Booktalk!

Will is a freshman who is ruled by science. He believes in the order of things. So when a scientific discovery is made that rocks his basic belief system, he is thrown off his orbit.

He has two best friends: BT, a skateboarder who loves to take risks, and Mi-Su, a girl he has known forever. The three of them spend every Saturday night together. Will's five-year-old sister, Tabby, is also a constant companion – but she drives him absolutely crazy. She adores her big brother but does not give him the space he needs. Everyone thinks it's cute ... except him.

Will is a chess champ and needs to practice with his father to get ready for the next tournament, but his concentration is always broken by Tabby. She just never knows when to stop. It is during a chess tournament that Tabby does something that rips their family's world apart, and Will painfully learns that there are some things for which you cannot plan.

Best for grades 6 and up
