Darius is not who they think he is. Yes, the news is portraying him as a monster. And they’ve got video after video of him confessing to terrorist attacks, looking distant as horrible things happen. Kamran’s classmates all take these to be what they seem. They think Darius must be a traitor. Kamran, however, knows his brother better than that. He believes that Darius has been kidnapped, and that he’s sending clues. Now he just needs someone to listen to him. Otherwise, it will be too late—for Darius and for lots of innocent people.