

a letter to families

Teachers want to help your child make progress on the road toward independence. Any information you can provide about the things your child is trying to do on his own, and the special ways you support him, will be helpful. Please fill in the form below and return it to your child's teacher.

1. How does your child let you know when he wants to do something on his own?

2. What new skills has your child been working on at home?

3. How do you support your child as he works on those skills?

4. What signs does your child give you when he is frustrated and needs help?

5. What words or gestures do you use to let your child know that you are proud of his accomplishments?
