

This paper scored for

Ideas Organization
 Voice Word Choice
 Sentence Fluency Conventions

*My other classes will definitely read this.
Thanks for your recommendation!

Where the Red Fern Grows

Indent

Have you ever been able to choose a book for your Language Arts/Reading Class? Well I haven't, but if I could I would definitely choose Where the Red Fern Grows. Where the Red Fern Grows was written by a sort of famous author, Wilson Rawls. This book is amazing for a 6th grade class. Why, do you ask? Well I'll tell you why in my next few paragraphs.

Where the Red Fern Grows is a very interesting book, it is about a boy named Billy Coleman who really wants a pair of hunting dogs and won't stop at anything to get them. It takes place in the very early 1900's and it teaches about the old way of life, early cars and old general stores. This book isn't violent except for a few parts here and there, and even at those parts it isn't really all that violent. This book just tells about a boy with a dream and strong will to make that dream come true. Good message

Now, why would you want your class to read this book? Well, this book shows how perseverance, love and hard work can take you a long way in life. It also teaches a little about what life was like in the early 1900's. This book will inspire kids to have a little faith and work hard and almost anything can happen. This book is honestly a book that will bring out the character in every child and will teach kids and adults about the importance of having character and responsibility.

I personally like this book because of the suspense and the interesting plot and the way it will keep people of all ages reading to find out what happens at the end. It's like the saying with some potato ^{Great!} chips, you can't eat just one! Well, you can't just read Where the Red Fern Grows once. I really learned about the early 1900's from this book! This book is placed in the Great Depression so you can learn a good bit of information from it. This book tells about the way things were during the Great Depression, like the way houses were.

My favorite part about this story is when Billy's grandpa told him that if he wanted hunting dogs, god couldn't just make it happen. Billy would have to meet god half way. That, I think is very inspirational. All in all, this book is amazing and if you don't read it your reading life is not fulfilled. So go ^{Ha-Ha!} on! Go to your nearest library and pick up a copy of Where the Red Fern Grows.

Editor's Name Beth Anne + Lauren Author's Name Devon

pencil ↑ pen ↑

Does the paper have:

- Five (5) Indented Paragraphs.....Interesting Introduction, Three (3) Body Paragraphs, and Conclusion _____
- Does the paper have creative ideas? _____
- Is the paper organized? _____
- Are all proper nouns capitalized? _____
- Do all sentences begin with a capital letter and have some type of ending punctuation (period, question mark, etc.) _____
- Are all words spelled correctly _____
- Does the paper have voice (does it make you feel something)? _____
- Did you discuss the items above with the person? _____
- Overall how would you rate this paper: Not Good, Good, Excellent Why? Excellent, very funny! Me like! Mucho excelente!
Excellent funny, organized and has voice! excellent Excellent.