

Dear America,

I want to talk to you about preventing fires. People leave things cooking or light candles and have pets knock it over. I often hear fire trucks speeding and blowing their horns to help whose houses are burning. It is not a good feeling. I often worry about how it must feel to lose your home, to have no clothes , photographs , toys, and no money. How do those fires happen? Some times they are arson, sometimes accidental. We can prevent accidental fires. So I just want you to blow out your candles. Put them in a place your pet can't get to them. Remember to turn off your stove and do not let food cook unattended. Use these tips and you'll be safe!

Thank-you for your time.

Ijhane

Quitman St. School