

Think, Rethink, View, and Reexamine Thinking

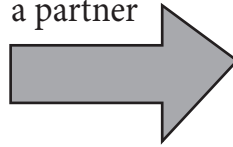

Before viewing the Dear America Webcast, have students think about journaling and the historical fiction genre and jot some ideas in the “Think” box. Next, students will discuss it with a partner. After discussing their ideas with a partner, students will jot down what their new thoughts are or how their thoughts might have changed in the “Rethink” box. Then they will view the webcast. After the webcast, they will reexamine their thinking or look at what they wrote down the first two times, and in the bottom box, reflect on how their thinking changed and/or add new thoughts.
