How-to

Leverage Google+ with global connections

Google+ communities are excellent places to start making global connections with other classrooms using Google Hangout (GHO), especially with educators working in the international schools systems. Within the communities, teachers can post requests for Mystery Location calls, share their global projects to recruit participants or ask other experts questions about global learning. The tool is an easy and friendly way to get started connecting with others across the globe.

Mystery Location Calls Google Community
Google Connected Classrooms
Global TL: Libraries without Borders
Mystery Hangout
Global Education Conference Network