

SCHOLASTIC THOUGHT LEADERS

- ▶ Wayne D'Orio is Editor-in-Chief of Scholastic Administrator properties. During his 10+ years of field coverage, he has interviewed many notable leaders in the field of education including Secretary of Education Arne Duncan, Rudy Crew, and Michael Horn. He frequently visits school districts, such as Forsyth County Schools in Georgia, Randle Highlands Elementary School in D.C., and the Big Picture High School in Nashville, all in the past year.

- ▶ Alexander Russo is Scholastic Administrator's Contributing Editor. His blog, This Week in Education, is one of the best read in the industry. With up to 10 posts daily, he keeps tabs on every education trend and notable personality in the field. His wickedly sharp Twitter account has more than 14,000 followers. Russo also used to be a teacher, as well as a staffer for Senator Diane Feinstein and former Los Angeles superintendent Ray Cortines.

- ▶ Kim Greene is a senior staff editor. A former elementary school teacher, Kim is armed with a master's degree in education and a burning desire to understand every nuance of the Common Core. Her articles for students and teachers have won numerous industry awards.
