It was a hot day. The sun shined overhead as the _____ (Your Team) won their final game of the season, and took home the trophy. Josh Smith, the most valuable player, walked off the field and was greeted by hundreds of fans happy with his success.

"Josh is a great player," said his coach. "He runs well and can do whatever we ask of him."

"Yes," added a teammate, "Josh's ball handling is good."

As fans sat in the stands and chanted, "D-e-f-e-n-c-e", it was clear to see that this hometown likes their new team. Anyone can see why. Every player is an able athlete, good student, and nice person.

Having an undefeated season the first year is unusual. In the past, no other team had done this. We want to see them play this well again next year. By then, the team will wear new uniforms with the school colors and team logo. It will be exciting to see the _____ (Team Name) come out on the field for another season.

Additionally, the new sports arena is nice. The concession stand has good burgers and hot dogs, and the candy selection is big. The grounds have trees, flowers, and new bleachers. We are lucky to have a new team to support.
