

Dear Families,

As you know, your child's progress as a reader is very important to me. I am excited to tell you about a new reading opportunity available for students in our class this year.

Your child will be using Storia, Scholastic's e-reading program, in school this year. Storia introduces students to the benefits of e-reading in a child-centered, literature-rich environment. Storia enrichment features enable students to interact deeply with text.

The fun and learning can continue at home, because Storia is also available as a free download for PCs, iPads (iPad 2 or above), and Android tablets. When you download Storia at home, you will receive five free e-books to start your child's personal e-book library. To download Storia, visit www.Scholastic.com/Storia.

Reading with Storia will absolutely count toward your child's reading homework. You may find that your child will be motivated to read even more at home if Storia is available. As with any book your child reads, please remind your child to record finished e-books on a reading log and remind your child to look for "just right" book selections.

If you have any questions about using Storia with your child at home, please don't hesitate to get in touch. For technical questions or problems, you can contact Storia customer service at 1-855-STORIA1.

Happy reading,
