Some Helpful Definitions

ISBN (International Standard Book Number) A unique machine-readable identification number, which identifies any book unmistakably. 159 countries and territories are officially ISBN members. However, as with many man-instituted technologies, the system is not perfect; occasionally one will find two [or more] titles with the same ISBN.

SIGNATURE A printed sheet of paper, folded to size and ready for sewing (i.e.: large paper folded in half, fourths, eighths, sixteenths, or thirty-seconds).

VERSO The left page of an open book, when it is open and facing the reader. The back of a leaf. Also called the reverse.

RECTO A right-hand page, when a book is open and facing the reader.

GUTTER Channel and combined marginal space formed by the two inner or back margins of facing pages of a volume. Margin along the spine

EDITION All of the copies of a book printed from the same setting of type, at one time or over a period of time, with no major changes, additions or revisions. Minor changes, such as the correction of some misspelled words, or the addition of a dedication, or similar very minor alterations, may be made and the revised copies are still considered as part of the same edition, simply being described as different states or issues.
