The storm of the century ~~Extreme storms~~

If you believe that the storm of the century was a blizzard, you'd be ~~the~~ ^{wro}ng. If you guessed tornado or flood, you'd still be wrong. But, if you guessed it was a combination of all three, blizzard, tornado, and flood you'd be right on.

The storm was called a nor'easter. That's when winds blow, really blow, from north-east, especially along the United States' northeast coast.

~~This~~ The year was 1993 when the nor'easter hit ~~from~~ ^from Maine to Florida. It closed down ~~every airport~~ ^{most airports} on the eastern coast. It dumped snow ~~from~~ and caused about 50 tornadoes.

If I were the Queen

If I were the queen bee. I ^{would} live with a lot of other bees. I ^{would} need to get my food from other bees. They take care of me. I would lay a lot of eggs every day I would be the only queen. I would live for three years.

The other bees would keep me warm during the winter. I would use my stinger ^(?) to kill other queens. I ^{would} eat

^(?) special food to turn into a queen. The end

“Birds Eat”

by Tommy T.

Seeds. Fruit. Insects. Birds eat all of these foods. Parrots use powerful beaks to crack open nuts and seeds. A toucan's giant, colorful bill picks fruits and berries from tree branches. Almost all birds eat insects, but woodpeckers really know how to catch bugs. They use a long tongue to pull bugs from underneath the bark on trees. Gross, cool too!

~~stomack~~ my ^(P)stomack was in a knott when Mrs.C finally set it down. "YES!!!" I gave a quiet cheer. I was 500000 relieved. ^(SP)

Michael leaned over and whispered "Way to go!" Then Mrs.C called "Class. May I have your ~~atension~~ ^{attention} please." The class still as a butterfly's wings.

With our eyes on Mrs.C she ~~said~~ ^{smiled} "Everyone did so well we're playing math games for the last 15 minutes of class" "Congratulation".

We cheered, "Hip Hip Hooray" 3 times for Mrs.C. Math was really fun that day!!!
