

Questions about your students' and their families' writing practices	What do you currently know or do?	What are some new multilingual practices you can incorporate? Which ones do you want to know more about?
How do you want to organize the writing time so that it is consistent (e.g., the children know it always happens and how it happens)?
What is your role as a teacher in supporting all of your students as they write and learn language?
What do you know about how your emergent bilingual students write? Based on this understanding, how can you support them as they write?
What do you know about your students' families' writing practices outside of school?
What valuable writing practices do you want to share with emergent bilinguals in your class?
How do you ensure there are structures in place for the children to access their entire linguistic repertoires as they write? How do you ensure access?		