R.A.F.T.S. PROMPT

You are an expert at riding a scooter (or another activity of your choice). Now your best friend (a novice) wants to learn, too, but thinks it should be easy on the first try. After finding out it's not so easy, your friend gives up out of frustration. Write dialogue in paragraph format to explain to your friend how to become an expert at your chosen activity. Explain why it's important to practice until you master this new skill. Have some fun with the comments your best friend makes during the conversation.
