R.A.F.T.S. PROMPT

You are Professor Claim. You want to teach your students at Opinion University how to write an excellent claim for opinion writing. Pick one of the three topics from Stake Your Claim: Make sure your claim has two sides, make your claim interesting, or make your claim specific. Develop a slide that teaches students why this topic is key to writing a solid claim. Provide specific examples that will convince your students that there are good claims and not-so-good claims, to make your teaching point clear. Use precise language so it's easy to connect with and follow the message of your slide.
