

Teacher Resource
R.A.F.T.S. for Write-On Page 2

R.A.F.T.S. PROMPT

*You are Professor Jingmai O'Connor, who first wrote about the Oculudentavis khaungraae to inform paleontologists around the world. You've been asked to write a summary for a science journal describing what might be the discovery of the world's smallest dinosaur. Using facts from the Go-Along Page, extol (rave about; acclaim) the discovery of this tiny creature and its eyes. Weave in as many facts as possible so other scientists will also appreciate and be intrigued by this find.*

Role: Professor Jingmai O'Connor

Audience: Science Journal

Format: Single topic summary

Topic: Discovery of the world's smallest dinosaur and its eyes

Strong Verb: extol (rave about; acclaim)