R.A.F.T.S. PROMPT

You are Orville and his friends. You've all decided that adventures are better together, and this morning you're ready to blast off on your first group voyage. While you're gone, you decide to write a letter to Zeke the zookeeper to tell him the story of your trip. Be sure to let him know where you've gone and describe it in detail. Draw a picture, too, so he can really see the setting of your new adventure in his mind. You can't wait to share it with him when you return for lunch—because you'll probably be as hungry as a pack of...well, zoo animals!

Role: Orville and the other zoo animals

Audience: Zeke the zookeeper

Format: Letter

Topic: Where you've gone on your group adventure

Strong Verb: decide
