

a letter to families

Learning to communicate and cooperate with other children and adults is an important part of your child's school experience. Any information you can provide about your child's abilities and style of communicating and cooperating will be extremely helpful to us. Please fill in the form below and return it to your child's teacher.

1. What are your child's favorite objects to explore? _____

2. Which toys intrigue your baby and keep her occupied for long periods of time?

3. What are your child's special interests? Is she curious about living things (goldfish, kittens, ladybugs)? Household objects? Bathtime toys? _____

4. How do you satisfy your child's curiosity and keep her safe at the same time?

5. What kinds of choices do you offer your child (Cereal or toast for breakfast, for example)? (If you have some special secrets that work for you, please share them with your child's teacher!)
