

Thoughts for Thursday.....

Who is the author and illustrator? What clues about the story does the front cover provide? What do you predict will happen based on the cover and summary?

Describe the main character. What are some of his/her traits? How do you think the main character will change throughout the book?

What is the conflict of the story? How is the main character affected by the conflict? What do you predict will happen?

Write a letter to the main character. What questions or feelings do you have to share with the main character?

Describe any figurative language you have read. How have the the author's words brought this story to life?

Write a poem describing the story. You may use the poem style of your choice.

Write a letter to the author comparing and contrasting two characters in the book.

What is the theme of the book? Provide examples from the story supporting your theme.

How did the book end? How would you change the ending? Would you recommend this book to a friend?
