

To Our Prized Possessions:

May you always shine brightly with hope and love.

You are from a family that loves you.

A family that sports their Bears gear every Sunday.

A family that believes family will always come first and ventures on the weekends exploring our world.

You are from a mother that could not live without you.

A mother that adores your laughs, treasures your hugs, and cherishes your nighttime snuggles.

A mother that plays DJ in the car while you special request your favorite tunes.

A mother that loves you to the moon and back.

You are from a father that lives for the love of you.

A father that plays with you and makes houses out of boxes.

A father that builds forts that last for days and teaches you the mechanics of all things sports.

A father that shares his cookies and milk after dinner.

A father with a heart that melts every time he sees you.

You are from a sister that will admire you always.

A sister that strives to be just like you.

A sister that shares her slobbery kisses and her warm gentle hugs.

A sister that screams bloody murder when you lock her out of your room and won't share your toys.

A sister that can defeat you hands down in an eating contest.

A sister that thinks the world of you.

You are from a family that loves to dance.

A family that loves to joke and share stories when they are together.

A family that always look for the greener side of the grass.

A family that will love you unconditionally...always.

YOU WILL ALWAYS BE OUR SUNSHINE!
