Family Memories

Dear family,

We are learning about Dia de Muertos (Day of the Dead) celebrated in Mexico. This holiday honors and remembers family members who have died. It is not meant to be scary, though many of the images are colorful skulls. It has nothing to do with Halloween, though it is the same time of the year. To connect the learning, we want to know about a family member who may have died in your family. This can be someone who passed before the student was born or it could even be a cherished pet. If it is possible to send a picture, please do. It will be returned unharmed. Please return forms by _____. Participation is optional, as this is a sensitive topic.
