

Wild Turkeys

When people got to America, they found two wild birds and the turkey was one of them. They were hunted too much, but have made a comeback. A wild turkey can live three or four years. Turkeys like to live in the woods and eat nuts, fruit, insects, and salamanders. Only male turkeys have fan tails and gobble. Females lay 4-17 eggs at a time. Males do not help take care of chicks. Moms and chicks live together in flocks.
