Activities

For the First Week of School ... and Beyond

Find Someone Who ...

This game is a wonderful ice breaker for the first day of school. It's like a socially interactive scavenger hunt which allows students to get to know each other. You'll be amazed by the buzz of excitement that this activity generates and by the interesting conversations which take place when reviewing the winner's category sheet.

- Copy the "Find Someone Who..." form on page 19.
- Give students fifteen minutes to find classmates who fit the listed categories, without listing the same person for more than two categories. When fifteen minutes are up, have the students add up the total
 - number of categories they completed and write the total at the top of the page.
- Ask everyone to stand. Then start counting up to 25. Students should sit when you say the number which matches their total. The last standing student is the winner.
- Take the winner's sheet and review it with the class. Talk to each of the students whose name is listed under each category. Verify that they fit the given category. If they do not, deduct one point from the total. Continue until the winner is established.
- Decide on some small prize for the winner to receive, such as a book, a free computer pass, lunch with the teacher, etc.

Interest Inventory

It is important that you get to know your students as unique individuals. The responses they give on the interest inventory on pages 20-21 provide an insight into how they view the world, as well as what they find fun and exciting. This may help you choose class novels and activities throughout the year.
