Self-Reflective Speech Review

Now it’s time to take a few minutes to reflect.
What “worked” about your speech? What didn’t? What went right?
What went “not-soright”? Use the questions below to guide your thinking. Write your answers on a separate sheet of paper.

1. What are your general feelings about the speech project as a whole?
2. What part of the process did you like the best? Why?
3. Which part did you enjoy the least? Why?
4. What makes you proud about the speech you gave?
5. What would you do differently?
6. Having been through the process, you know more now than you did before. What advice would you give someone planning a speech for the first time?
7. Do you have any other thoughts, concerns, or feelings on this topic?
