

MAINE: Cape Elizabeth Activity

HEAD LIGHT LETTER SCRAMBLE

The Portland Head Light in Maine is America's first (and most photographed) lighthouse. Dating back to 1791, it was built to replace the soldiers who stood at the Portland head to warn of British attack during the Revolutionary War. Once lit by whale oil lanterns, the lighthouse today is fully automated and continues to aid sailors navigating along the rocky coast of Maine.

Shine the light on these Maine attractions to unscramble the letters and solve the clues.

OSTRLEB LORL

Clue: a must-have lunch order while in Maine

ACAADI TINOLNAA KRPA

Clue: the first national park east of the Mississippi on Mount Desert Island along the coast of Maine

RAB RABOHR

Clue: this town got its name from the sandbar that reveals itself at low tide, creating a natural land bridge

LILACADC NUOMAINT

Clue: this is the highest peak on the Atlantic coast